

Considering our customers suggestions:
we just completed our Axel recliner.

A few years ago, one of our weaknesses were recliner programmes. Basically because we hardly had any models which could offer these options following our company philosophy.

We are sure you will agree that the launch of the Avalon model was a revolution, becoming the second best-selling model in just one year.

We did not stop there, and the following year we developed our Atlanta & Baltia models, which have also been a great success.

Considering our customers suggestions, we just completed our Axel recliner. There are customers who like the comfort of Avalon but are not very keen on the padded design. Therefore, we would like to present our new model AXEL, which has the same base as Avalon, but with a more contemporary touch and no padded design.

“We present a new option with the back cushion of Adan on the Avalon base”

In addition to the Avalon arms, it can also be produced with the Dune, Jazz, Sunset, and Wave arms from the Atlanta&Baltia recliners. The recliner options have now increased: we offer the same modules as in Avalon and Atlanta&Baltia recliners, with the possibility of using all the elements from the previous recliners.
